More Features:

- * 2 to 4 cells for each strip

- * Talk and thought balloons

How to Share Comix?

- * Comix can be printed or emailed
- * Saving comix requires making a screenshot and pasting it into a file in programs like Word or Paint
- * The screenshot can be cropped later
- * PC version does require Adobe flash
- * iPad app available

Educational Uses

- * Providing differentiated instruction
- * Planning a project, revising, and reflecting on student's work
- * Engaging students' eye-hand coordination

More Educational Uses

- * Engaging spatial reasoning
- * Promoting visual and text literacy
- * Providing prompts for writing

Helpful Hint

- * Teachers should make their own example so they know what to expect from students.

Work Efficiently

- * Use scripts and storyboards:
  - * Avoid wasting time so students know what they need to do
  - * Storyboards can be a table with stick figures and dialogue
  - * Students might fiddle less in the app
  - * Students gain valuable planning skills

MBC Characters and Props

- * Most characters, props, and settings are contemporary
- * For historical events, comics might depict contemporary or symbolic characters discussing historical events

- * Students who don't mind contemporary characters can ignore this limitation and set their comix in any period

Helpful Hint

- * Show or list some of the different MBC characters and props during the scripting phase

- * Students will know what they have to work with

Reflective Writing

- * After designing the comix, students can write a reflective “How and Why I Did It” paper

Engage Metacognition

- * Students can self-evaluate
- * They can reflect on:
  - * what went well
  - * what went poorly
  - * what they would change, etc.

What Classes Can Use Make Beliefs Comix?

Sample Storyboard for Analysis of Flowers for Algernon

- * CCSS ELA grade 6 #2.
- * Determine a theme or central idea of a text and how it is conveyed through particular details.
- * Provide a summary of the text distinct from personal opinions or judgments.

Flowers for Algernon Storyboard

Flowers for Algernon is a novella about an intellectually disabled man named Charly. He has an operation to “cure” his disability, but it doesn’t last, and he goes back to his old condition.

The Literature, Arts, and Medicine Database article about FFA raises some interesting questions about themes relating to medical ethics, and made me think of additional questions.

LAMD asks, which medical problems or disabilities should be cured?

LAMD also asks, which “cures” are satisfactory?

Finally, we might ask our own questions, like, what should doctors know before trying new procedures on patients?
